J. J Greenough never obtained a patent which, in the most remote degree, claimed or specified anything like my machine. Those who know from whence the reports proceed that he did so, need so denial of them, but those who do not, are informed toat such reports are entirely false and without foundation in truth. A certified copy of said patent is at all times open for the inspection of those interested at my office, and if any person will therein point out any similarity between it and my own, I will forfait is 1,000; a 500 to go to such person, and a 500 to some charitable institution in this city, as the Mayor may designate. I entertain too high an estimation of far Greenough's integrity and talents to believe that he cruste hances the imposition now attempted upon the public by those persons having control of said patent.
